I think GIS Bucharest event was very nice, I really like when many disciplines come together, that architects and contractors meet, this allows to widen our perspective on how we see things.

Markus PLETTAU
Regional Market leader, High Performance
Building Solutions at Dow Corning, Speaker and Partner

I am positively surprised to see that there are so many architects, that there are engineering companies as well, sharing all their knowledge. It is good to see the other side because we are coming from the industry and we have had an inside-out look from time to time in this kind of events. It is a really nice event, a lot of interest is generated through all these presentations. I am excited to see there is so much interest in the innovations we have presented today.

Eng. Veronica Sterian
Managing Coordinator of the Technical
Department for Refrigeration Design, DAAS
International Group, Romania

We would like to thank you for the invitation and for the support during the organization of the GIS & CONTRACTOR events. Not only I enjoyed the organization of the event, but also the guests and the topics discussed. As an experienced engineer in the domain of heating and refrigeration, I participated at CONTRACTOR conferences.

TESTIMONIALS

arch. Vladimir Mindru
Founder of YELLOW OFFICE, Romania

It was a really good event, with a lot of interesting people and high-quality conferences. I hope we will meet again next year.

Arch. Adrian Cancer
Founder of Square One Studio, Romania

I am honored to participate at this conference. It is really impressive and well organized. Until now, I've heard interesting facts and I am looking forward to seeing what the other speakers have to say. It's extraordinary and I wish there would be more events like this for us to have the chance to meet more often.

Eng. Alexandra Stoica
Executive Director, DAS ENGINEERING GRUP,
Romania

I would like to thank ABplus Events for the way they organized this conference. I had the pleasure and joy to discover that we develop from year to year. Besides the practical presentation of installations, this year we could also see presentations on the certification of green systems, innovative solutions from equipment suppliers, innovative Daikin solutions for increasing energy efficiency and reducing energy consumption, beautiful projects as Enzo Ferrari.

Overall I must say that I have the confidence that we grow from year to year, which is pleasing and appropriate for this type of conferences.

Arch. Hagy Belzberg Faia
Principal Hagy Belzberg Architects, U.S.,
Special Guest GIS International Expo
Conference 2015

The series of GIS events was extraordinary, with an incredible number of very very interesting people, architects, interior designers. The event has allowed me to meet new people and has offered me the opportunity to meet people that I normally wouldn't have had the chance to meet and network with, this is what I think it is really important.

Acad. Prof. Dr. Eng.d.h.c. Liviu Dumitrescu,
President of AIIR, Chairman of the Expo
Conference CONTRACTOR Installation 2015

As far as the Contractor conference is concerned, I can say that it was even better than the one from last year due to the well organised presentations from the program and the higher number of participants which is in a constant increase from year to year. All in all, the event was a success and I want to assure our partners ABplus Events of the whole support of AIIR in the future.

Dominique Lancrenon
President of the European Council of Urban Planners

I understood at the CONTRACTOR how important is to demonstrate professional ethics in a time where politicians seem to be busy with their internal discussions.

Duccio Astaldi
President of European International Contractors

Expo Conference CONTRACTOR 2013 offered a great opportunity for a better understanding of the strengths, weaknesses and needs of the construction market in Eastern Europe and Romania.

TESTIMONIALS

Prof. Rainer Mahlamäki
Partner Lahdelma & Mahlamäki Architects,
Special Guest GIS Bucharest 2016 edition

First of all I have to say applause once again, few times for the opportunity to be in Romania, at GIS conference. I feel that a conference like this is very important, because the idea is to get together the whole building sector, not only designers, planners, architects, interior architects, but also construction companies, manufacturers and so on. I think this is the way how to really improve our cooperation in the bulding sector, but also that the people who are orientating on more technical issues they can also support our way to take and to approach what means construction and what means architects.

ARCH. Jan GEYSEN
Vice President the Council of Interior
Architects, Founder PUUR interieurarchitecten,
Guest of Honour GIS Bucharest 2016
conference

Thanks for organizing these big successful event. I am really positive about everything, the contacts I made, the organization, the event, the city, everything. I really liked the conference. It was really interesting to see also presentations from the other countries, like Bulgaria for example, but I am really surprised that in Romania there is so much attention for interior architcture, for which I am very enthusiastic.

Fernando Branco
President of the European Council of Civil Engineers

CONTRACTOR is an important communication experience among manufacturers. We must build on the principle of continuous investing in quality and innovation in order to become better and to be different.

We are a small group, an international group with headquarters in Prague. I'm from Poland but I'm responsible for four countries, apart from Czech, Poland, Slovakia, and this year in Romania. As we are trying to introduce some solutions which we know from other countries of our activity, we decided to introduce them to Romania, through this conference. We are satisfied to be here, we can also network a bit with architects here, with other companies in the field. It's quite an interesting program.

Michal ŠUSTR

I think that for us, for a company that is practically starting on the Romanian market, this event is hopeful. It will help us to get the first contacts, to present our products.

Rolf WIELEB

For me it's the second time I've joined the conference. It's amazing that a lot of people are joining this conference in Bucharest. It's a very good platform to share experience, information, but also the latest developments. We are very happy to be here and to get in contact with the different stakeholders.

Ovidiu RUS

It's very nice, it's very good organized, we have been partners with ABplus for some time and everything is ok.

TESTIMONIALS

Ing. Radu MOSTEANU
KNAUF INSULATION

It is a very interesting conference because construction companies can meet the architects who can prescribe our products in their specifications, in their projects.

Alex LUPEA
KRONOSPAN

From the start, I was surprised by the participants, I expected less people than have come until now. There are a lot of specialists, architects, asking about our products. We have new products and for the first time they can see this kind of products here. There are a lot of products not producing here in Romania but we can bring them from the Group and there was a very good impression about that. It's a good experience, we have a presentation about our products, our company, the trends in 2015.

ROMANIAN BUILDING AWARDS

The Romanian Building Awards celebrate a fundamental component of our lives, the built environment. RBA aims to contribute to the edification and growth of the building culture in Romania and to promote the most valuable projects built recently in Romania. The event brings the collaboration between architects, investors, beneficiaries and other representatives of the building construction industry to a higher level.

The Romanian Building Awards is a live competition: SHARE autumn forum hosts live presentation by all of the award finalists, with live judging and discussions. You can find out what the RBA judges think about finalist projects. The experience of leaders of the profession, the excitement of emerging architects, projects that have a significant social, cultural and economic impact are rewarded excellence at the Romanian Building Awards Gala.

The awards have the Romanian Order of Architects, „Ion Mincu” University of Architecture and Urbanism, the Ownership Federation of Romanian Contractors and ProEvent Association as initiators and organizers and ABplus Events as producer.

„I firmly believe that we have to add our contribution through various means to the growth of the building culture in Romania. The recognition of the recent values, of the present and their commendation is one of these means. By organizing the Romanian Building Awards, we want to build a tradition of celebrating this fundamental component of our lives, the built environment”.
Serban Tiganas, President of the Order of Architects of Romania.

„There is a need for the sector of constructions to regain its power and the image as engine of the economy and resource of social sustainability. For this, the most representative accomplishments in the field must be made known to everyone. That is why, we believe that the Romanian Building Awards- RBA is one of the most important communication projects of the moment, which can bring about change.”

Romanian Building Awards acknowledge the excellence of the design and execution of the built environment in Romania. The projects are not only evaluated from an aesthetic and technical point of view, but also the social, cultural and economic impact which they have on the wide audience is especially taken into consideration.

PROCESS OF NOMINATION AND EVALUATION

Romanian Building Awards are supervised by a Board, made up of important personalities from the academic, cultural and the entrepreneurial environment of Romania. The board members maintain the high standards of participation and selection of the projects submitted to gain recognition as winners of the national awards for the built environment. The board announces the nominations and the final selection of the winners and honorary mentions is made by the jury.

The international jury awards projects that have a different perspective on Romanian urban public space and that bring a substantial contribution to the quality of the built environment, improving the context and giving value to the profession through the way the architects are approaching housing and community. In addition to the awards, the honorable mentions go to projects that stand out through space quality, innovation and reactivation of urban areas.

"It seems to me that the jury saw quite well and was open to recognize and promote our intervention. At the national level is the first award we receive for this project. We will continue our efforts in this direction. What interests us is primarily educational value for students, they are more receptive and open and an award like this is very important, maybe more because it is a validation to students who need models. They do not need to hear how difficult the profession is and how difficult relationship with the beneficiaries is. When we think beneficiaries are impossible, means that we fail to communicate, to transmit valuable ideas.

Architecture is more about communication, about a broader vision, about understanding things, wanting to experiment and to grow constantly."

arch. Adrian Pop, winner RBA 2016 edition with the project for the education center of roma community - CERC Boldești-Scaeni - and landscape planning developed of the winners of Romanian Building Awards 2016 edition

"We were glad that the housing project Dogarilor was awarded at RBA and surprised by the fact that took so many awards at different competitions. We enjoyed that it touched some specific points and diverse audience reacted, not just architects. It is a joy, but more than that, is an encouragement. It is a project where the team which represented the investors has meant a lot. There was not the usual type of real estate investment in Bucharest. The investor came home with the vision of different housing, not only supported our ideas, but they had a huge opening and came up with proposals. They largely merit this project. It was a happy meeting architect-investor. We had the vision, but the investors had beside a vision, a risk. It worked well for all parties involved and everyone is happy with the result. The block is inhabited by architects, actors, designers, creative people who form a niche and is one of the projects that was sold before completion, at a time when the real estate market in Bucharest was in an economic crisis. There is a kind of interaction between the inhabitants, completely different from what we are accustomed in Bucharest. Before finalizing the project, some of the buyers visited the site and resonated in a special way with the place."

Andrei Serbescu, ADN BA, winner RBA 2016 edition with the project Urban Spaces Dogarilor

The jury was very impressed by the diversity and complexity of the projects submitted for the Romanian Building Awards 2016 edition. This diversity also made very engaging the judging process, given the fact that the jurors had to review 25 different shortlisted projects, many of which had completely different typologies, contexts and situations. Each project was assessed according the contribution of the project to the public space and to public life.

WINNERS 2016

CERC - ID project: 8 + ID project: 37

"The project is an excellent example of a current tendency within architecture to search for the best outcome for a community first and foremost, rather than focusing on the object itself. It is relevant to note the contribution of 10 NGOs and other actors including commercial and city partners, which together form CERC. The role of the architect as part of a CSR project is very important here. This project stands out as an important contribution brought by the architect to the public space."

Urban Spaces ID project: 19

"This project is exceptional in the way that it works across multiple scales in developing a strategy for creating a new urban life.

At an urban scale, the site insertion wisely maintains the character of the urban morphology in Bucharest and its particular qualities. At the next scale, the project is a wise response to density in its provision of an incredibly diverse number of apartment types. This is very rare in a housing projects. The public space is built on a strategy of connectedness, either between the street and facades, the open spaces on site and smaller interstitial spaces. The result is a series of spaces that are adaptable for different uses. We are left with an impression of a rich urban life being created by this building, set against a playful and dynamic formal quality."

MENTIONS 2016

c.a.p.

ID project: 22

"We appreciate this project for its bold statement which yet still responds well compositionally to the existing building. To achieve this outcome would have clearly required a strong, long term collaboration and dialogue between the parties involved."

Behind the blocks

ID project: 48

"This project is appreciated for its intelligence in regard to the urban morphology and with its distinct corner position, without being overtly demonstrative. The building assumes its modest scale well at the corner, with modelling at the base related to the architect's interpretation of site conditions. At a detail level, the use of traditional motifs in a new way was also considered a very positive aspect of the project."

PiataCetatii – Turnu Stefan

ID project: 50

"The value of this project consists in the refurbishment of a public space in the city. The creation of this space also included the discovery and display of archaeological elements in the design. This open space is complemented by the interior world of the renovation which appears to be of a high quality."

Efden

ID project: 23

"This project was appreciated for its commitment to innovation in space and materials in the service of helping architects respond to major environmental issues. The value of the prototype has multiple dimensions, from the research and development of new materials and in new configurations, and in its more public role in raising awareness of how sustainability can inform design. All the profession will benefit from the findings of this project."

„In order to promote true values you need them first be recognized and awarded. Romanian Building Awards have their special place in the spectrum of competitions from Romania. Its unique points are the plurivalent jury, the nomination process, the selection and the judging criteria. The jury is made up by architects, designers, urbanists, academics and representatives of the media. The competition has a multidisciplinary board that chooses the nominations and the jury is the one that decided the final hierarchy of projects and the winners.”

Prof.dr.arch. Marian Moiceanu, Rector „Ion Mincu” University of Architecture and Urbanism, Bucharest

„In the Romanian context that is prone to lack of regulation, to wish and to act for the edification of a culture of the quality of the built environment it is a necessity. Recently, this has become possible due to the fact that a growing number of people has started to address this issue and to ask for the council of architects in order to solve and not only to obtain the necessary building permits or in order to build high.”

Prof.dr. Vintila Mihailescu, Director of the Sociology Department – SNSPA-Faculty of Political Science

SUMMARY BOARD MEMBERS CONCLUSIONS

„If there is such a competition, which I believe that will become very prestigious due to its tradition and quality, there will also be great projects presented. Romanian Building Awards encourages quality projects from Romania and can contribute to the growth of the quality of the built environment due to its notoriety and extensive promotion. Any awareness action in this field instructs and shapes the architects mentality. I am confident that Romanian Building Awards will celebrate valuable projects and great architects and architecture practices.”

Designer, architect Ioana Ciolacu

“It is necessary that competitions such as Romanian Building Awards start to have a bigger influence in order to educate and to bring some rigorosity in the architectural domain in Romania. We have some individual projects and interesting realisations but, if we judge having in mind the general context, our capacity to bring this projects all-in-one, we have much to work on.”

Marian Popa, Manager Deutsche Bank Technology Group
