Connecting people through architecture in Central and Eastern Europe

Our more than 20 years experience in the Central and Eastern European market positions our events as one of the most active international forums in the region, a source of continually updated information, supporting the continuous training of specialists and the promotion of young talents.

Each year, SHARE Forum has been in pursuit of excellence in the fields of architecture and construction, improving the quality and the complexity of its dynamic events with every edition.

We took on the mission to find ways to communicate, share and exchange values, know-how and examples of good practices between East and West. With the idea in mind of an inclusive, free and conscious professional environment to work in, to represent architectural excellence in our built environment, and to open the possibility to work and create better in a context that benefits from administrative, political and investor's support.

At the same time, we believe that there is an unused potential of expression in the architectural profession in Central and Eastern European region and that architects could benefit from more representativeness on a European and global level achieved through proper means of communication and networking.

On the prerequisite of this active community of participants and speakers, we decided to set the premises of an international Society of architects - SHARE Society that will enhance the connectivity between its members within a structure where experiences, ideas, and excellence are sharing. SHARE Society, an exclusive group to honor its members for the exceptional work and contributions within SHARE Community during the time. This framework will enclose an active community based on recognized membership granted by eminence, acting as a catalyst for networking, communication, debate, and action.

The SHARE Forum's spirit resides in the idea of connecting people through architecture, sharing concepts and initiatives in Central and Eastern Europe to bring architecture to a more social sensitive level. Arch. Ian Ritchie- from Ian Ritchie Architects and SHARE Society Fellow sees SHARE as "an intellectual, emotional exchange of creative people", while Sir Philippe Samyn – founding partner of Samyn and Partners, / SHARE Society Fellow endorses the same idea of a "long awaited" established architecture network which has "an intellectual purity, an intellectual freshness" and which does not take into account the age of participants but concentrates its attention to spreading the knowledge.

Șerban Țigănaș

UIA Secretary General – Romania

As an architect, Șerban is always interested in the evolution of architecture towards a better future. He strongly believes in its power to change the world if architecture becomes part of the general awareness of everybody. He was rewarded with the Medal Bene Merenti, offered by the University of Architecture and Urbanism Ion Mincu Bucharest for merits in representing the profession of architect, the Medal of Excellence offered by the Media Association and the Toffee offered for the entire activity of his practice, by Bursa Construcțiilor. As a practitioner, Șerban is working as managing partner of Dico and Țigănaș architecture and engineering. Several awards are rewarding the projects elaborated through the over 20 years: Architizer A+, The Medal of the President of UAR, BNAB, 1 st Prize BATRA, 2 nominations at Mies van der Rohe European Union Awards, a nomination for Building of the Year, by Arch Daily. Being a professor for future architects is a drug and a duty. Șerban teaches that the most important design of every young student is how to become an architect. He promotes the culture of architectural design competitions and has generated several successful such endeavors, both for students and professionals. Șerban considers part of an architect career the contribution to the professional organizations for the advance of architecture. He has served as president of OAR, board member of ACE, Council member of UIA and he currently is Secretary General of UIA.
