

Dear partners,

Now more than ever we need communication, and we are challenged to overcome the barriers of physical distance to continue to be next to partners, collaborators, and professional communities that are the motivation of our activities.

We have accepted the challenge and together with our partners, we have reconfirmed the living spirit of the SHARE Architects community by opening in April the SHARE Architects live webinars pre-event series, temporary replacements of in-person events.

The audience and the commitment of the participants beyond our initial expectations motivate us to develop these events online in May as well. Prominent architects have joined our initiative, and we are grateful to all partners who helped us in offering the SHARE experience in the new normality.

Cordial regards,

Eusebia Mindirgiu
Head of communication

We are waiting for you to join us this May and take part in the SHARE movement of uniting people through architecture.
If you wish to receive more detailed information about the webinars, please contact us at share@abplusevents.com
